

Boy Drowns at Super Heaven; Angels Say Divine "Cursed" Him

Negro "God" Too Busy Leading His Followers at Banquet Table to Notice Drowning of Young Negro Lad.

"SMART ALECK"

Angels Say Boy, Who Was Guest on Trip, Spoke Disrespectfully of Divine.

While Father Divine, the Harlem "messiah," and a couple of thousand of his religious followers were feasting in the banquet hall of the former Greenkill Park during the second pilgrimage to the number one Ulster county "heaven" Monday afternoon a 15 year old colored boy who had come along on the pilgrimage as a guest was drowned in the "heaven" swimming pool on the premises. The visit of the Grim Reaper however did not dim the spirits of the mob and they continued to feast and carry on with their religious fervor. The little ebony "god," to so many of his followers, did not leave the banquet table to assist in the work of recovering the body and after the "incident" devout followers of the Harlem negro solemnly declared that the death of the lad was because the Father had put a curse on the lad because he was a "smart aleck."

New Rochelle Boy

The unfortunate lad who lost his life in the pool at international capital was William Bullock, 15, the son of Mrs. Carrie Bullock of 39 Winyah avenue, New Rochelle, who with two younger brothers had come to the park as guests of the negro cultist.

Officials who went to the scene when summoned by telephone found the Harlem negro leader had apparently entirely overlooked the incident and was deep in the concern of his "children" who were making merry and feasting in the banquet hall. Interspersed with a lavish banquet were frequent religious outbursts which brought complaints from residents who lived in the neighborhood and also across the Rondout creek from the park. In fact so loud were the outbursts at times over the loud speaking system installed that Sheriff Molyneux was called upon to still the voice of the Harlem leader. At 3:45 o'clock a call was sent to Sheriff Molyneux, who had previous experience in that line when the High Falls "heaven" was in full swing and residents of that village complained of excessive noise. The "father" was notified to tone down his noise lest the heavy hand of the law descend on the gathering as a public nuisance.

It was shortly after this that word was telephoned by someone from the park that a boy had been drowned in the pool as a doctor was requested. This was shortly after 4 o'clock and Sheriff Molyneux, Deputies Vredenburg, Brown and Winne went to the scene. State Trooper Arthur Reilly was also summoned and Dr. John F. Larkin and Dr. Maurice Silk responded to the call for a doctor. However their services were not required and the lad was pronounced dead.

Accidental Drowning

Coroner Leston DuBois of New Paltz went to the park and after an investigation pronounced the lad dead from accidental drowning. Efforts of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation emergency crew were of no avail as the lad had been in the water too long when it was discovered that he was missing.

The lad, who was not a strong swimmer, according to some of those at the pool, had come up with his two brothers, James, 12, and Joseph, 9. On the way up some of the followers said the lad had been a "smart aleck" and had spoken disrespectfully to the Father. The drowning was the result of a "curse" which had been inflicted by the Harlem leader, they said.

It was stated that the lad had been observed to jump into the pool which in places is 15 feet deep. At the time there were at least 500 children in the pool and the lad was not at first missed. The pool is about 500 by 600 feet in size and the depth runs from 3 to 15 feet.

One of the angels on shore noticed the lad did not reappear and a short time later gave the alarm. Others in the pool dived several times before they were able to recover the body. Meanwhile C. E. Keyser, caretaker at the park called the sheriff's office and others at the park also asked for a doctor.

The lad was said not to be a follower of the cultist but had come along as a guest. He was accompanied by his two younger brothers. The little lad Joseph seemed to feel very badly over the death of his older brother and it required the attention of several persons to console him.

Coroner DuBois took charge of the body and removed it to his home.

Faces Charges of Wrecking Car He Was Told to Move

Eugene Cashdollar, 15, on parole from the Warwick State School was picked up at Lomontville Monday by Sergeant James J. Cunningham and Trooper Sweeney and held for arraignment Wednesday morning before County Judge Frederick C. Traver.

Cashdollar, a former resident of Ulster county, was paroled from the Warwick institution in June. He was at the Frank Merwin place at Shults' Corners on the Woodstock-Saugerties road on August 22 when the car of Miss Anna Walz, of 3 Cottage street, Potsdam, disappeared and was later found wrecked against a pole on the Saugerties-Woodstock road near the William Springs place. Since that time Cashdollar has been sought by the police.

Tuesday he was located at Lomontville where he was engaged in picking corn and brought to the county court house for a hearing. It was reported the lad was employed at the Merwin place and on the morning of the disappearance of the car of Miss Walz was requested to move the car from a shed which began to leak during a rain storm. It was found the car was locked and he was told not to touch it. Later Miss Walz gave him the key in order to move the car and without the knowledge of the Merwins he did move it. It was found against a pole wrecked and Cashdollar was missing. He apparently hitch-hiked his way to Saugerties by hitch-hiking after the accident and later went to New York but returned to Lomontville where he sought work.

OPEN SAFETY PIN REMOVED FROM PEGGY LE FEYER

An open safety pin was removed from the throat of Peggy, eight months old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth LeFeyer, in a delicate operation performed at the Kingston Hospital on Sunday by Dr. Meyerson, a New York city specialist, who was at his summer home in Millbrook. Dr. Meyerson first went to Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie where he obtained the use of the instrument he used in removing the pin from the little girl's throat. Dr. Harold Wilson and Dr. Henry Ribby of the hospital staff assisted Dr. Meyerson. The pin had lodged in the lower part of the throat with the point up.

A fleet of four swift Chinese bombing planes blasted the big American Dollar Liner President Hoover (above) by mistake in the China Sea off Shanghai, wounding seven of her seamen and halting America's efforts to get United States women and children out of the war-torn city. The Chinese National Government accepted full responsibility, explaining that the pilot of the bomber mistook the American vessel for a Japanese troopship. The President Hoover's hull was pierced in 23 places.

Fall School Budgets Show Big Increases

Former Neighbor Admits Slaying 10-Year-Old Girl

Detroit, Aug. 31 (AP)—A few hours after police had been asked to search for 10-year-old Evelyn Mack, a former neighbor led police to her body at the outskirts of the city today. Her head had been crushed with a crank handle. Police Lieut. Walter Bachor said Joseph Jacobs, the former neighbor, confessed that he killed her. Jacobs is the father of three children. His wife told police he had been erratic since the death, eight years ago, of a daughter who would have been the same age as Evelyn.

Yesterday afternoon, police said, Jacobs called at the home of Vernon R. Mack, a designer for the Packard Motor Car Co. After some conversation, he asked Evelyn to accompany him to a nearby grocery.

When they did not return, the family asked police to search for them. An all night search was futile, but this morning police found Jacobs tinkering with his automobile near the Ambassador Bridge.

Lieut. Bachor said Jacobs acknowledged readily that he had killed the girl and led him to the body.

Police went to the bridge in response to a report by a bridge attendant that a man whose automobile had broken down was acting strangely. The man was Jacobs.

"I Killed Her"

Lieut. Bachor said Jacobs replied "I killed her," when asked what he had done with Evelyn.

He directed them to the point where Chicago avenue ends at Inkster road, several miles from the Mack home.

There the officers found the body hidden in a clump of weeds. Jacobs said he had not attacked the girl.

He was sobbing hysterically when he reached police headquarters.

"I don't know why I did it," he sobbed. "I liked her. She was always so laughing and happy. I was going to take her to the grocery when we got into my automobile. I can't tell why but I couldn't stop. We kept going and going."

Continuing, Lieut. Bachor said, Jacobs told police:

"Before long we were out in the country. I stopped the car at the end of Chicago avenue. Then I said 'Now you wait here, I'll be right back.'"

"When I returned to the car, she was waiting for me. I took the crank handle. I hit her on the head with the crank. I don't know why."

NATIONALIZATION OF RAILROADS IN FRANCE

Paris, Aug. 31 (AP)—France's government today decreed the nationalization of the country's railroads.

Six great rail systems of more than 26,000 miles were banded into a single national railroad company.

A communiqué said simply that President Albert Lebrun had signed a decree "reorganizing the railroads."

But, ministers said, the decree—to be made public tonight—provided for government control of the new national railway company.

This decree completes the nationalization program of the People's Front, the Socialist-Radical-Socialist-Communist coalition which is in power in France.

The program has brought munitions plants, airplane factories and the Bank of France under the thumb of the government.

It is the last measure of Chautemps' "summer financial dictatorship."

The decree powers voted to him in June, which enabled him, among other things, to devalue the franc, expire at midnight tonight.

James C. Davis Dead.

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 31 (AP)—James C. Davis, 80, Des Moines attorney and director general of the United States Railroad administration after the World War, died last night of heart disease.

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—A general trend upward in school expenditures led educators to predict today enriched opportunities for 30,700,000 boys, girls and adults expected to enroll in public and private schools this September.

Officials at the office of education estimated that increases in school budgets reported from the 48 states will be reflected in slightly enlarged teaching staffs, additional school materials, and smaller per-pupil teacher loads.

School building construction by the public works administration, additional federal appropriations for occupational training under the new George-Deen act, and continued student aid through the National Youth Administration also were credited with brightening the back-to-school picture.

Statistics said there probably would be little change in total enrollment. They predicted a continued rapid decrease in elementary school population, due to the falling birth rate, and an increase in high school student bodies.

Their rough estimates for the division of public and private school population in 1937-38 were:

Kindergartens and elementary schools, 23,850,000; high schools, 6,400,000; colleges, 1,250,000.

E. M. Foster, statistical chief, said that total public school enrollment, which previously had been increasing annually, decreased last year because the drop in elementary schools was greater than high school enrollment.

"A similar decrease is probable this year," Foster said. "We estimate this fall's enrollment in public elementary schools at about 90,000 less than last year. The net decrease will depend on the high school enrollment."

COURT MARTIAL WANTS AVIATOR'S "MISTAKE"

Nanking, China, Aug. 31 (AP)—Court martial awaits the Chinese aviators who bombed the Dollar Liner President Hoover.

That was announced today from the headquarters of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

(Japanese naval authorities announced yesterday that their seaplanes had shot down one of the four planes which bombed the Hoover, and that the plane was of American make.)

51st Pioneers Plan Annual Reunion at Hudson on Sept. 12

The fourteenth annual reunion of the Fifty-first Pioneer Infantry Association will be held in Hudson on Sunday, September 12. The organization, which is composed of World War veterans who saw service with the Fifty-first Pioneer Infantry, was organized in this city on September 13, 1924, and has held an annual reunion every year since that time.

This will be the second time the veterans will gather in Hudson and the committee in charge of the reunion is making every effort to make their stay a pleasant one.

On arriving at the armory, where the business session will be held, members will register, after which breakfast will be served to those who care to eat. The business session will start at 11 o'clock, daylight saving time, at which time officers for the year will be elected and other routine matters taken up.

Following the meeting, members will journey to Bearcat Lodge, which is situated about two miles from Hudson on Route 23, where a most appetizing dinner will be served.

Marx Bros. of Hudson, who is general chairman of the committee, assures everyone attending the best time possible, and asks the cooperation of members to send in their reservation if they expect to attend. The deadline for reservations has been set for September 7.

Local Officers

Local officers of the association are: Arthur Fox, third vice president; Eugene Cornwell, secretary; Peter Keresman, treasurer; Robert Rice, sergeant-at-arms; and George McCullough, who is a member of the executive committee.

The Fifty-first Pioneer Infantry was composed of men from the Hudson valley and towns of the Hudson Valley, from New York to Albany. At the time war was declared in 1917, the regiment was known as the Tenth Infantry of New York National Guard, but later the units were federalized and the name changed to 51st Pioneers. Company M of this city was one of the units of the Tenth Infantry.

A large number of those who left this city in the draft the latter part of May, 1918, were assigned to Company F of the 51st Pioneers and saw continual service with the regiment until discharged while a number of others were transferred before embarking overseas to other outfits.

The men were sent to Camp Wadsworth in South Carolina, for intensive training preparatory to overseas service. On July 26, 1918, the regiment sailed from Hoboken on the S. S. Kronland and landed in Brest, France, on August 6, 1918. They took part in the major operations of the St. Mihiel offensive September 12 and 13 of 1918, and in the Meuse-Argonne campaign, September 26 to November 11, the day the armistice was signed, they operated between the Meuse and Moselle rivers. Following the signing of the armistice, the regiment was a unit of the Army of Occupation and remained in Germany until May 25, 1919. Part of the regiment came home on the S. S. Wilhelmshafen arriving in New York harbor on July 3, 1919, while the other part of the regiment came home on the Mongolia arriving in Boston a few days later, the regiment having embarked from St. Nazaire, France.

Service in France, Germany

The outfit saw service in France and Germany for about a year, the individual companies being assigned to various duties incidental to the winning of the World War. Their stay in Germany lasted about six months and during that period they were stationed along the Moselle river from Cochem to Guls, near Coblenz. Because of replacements, the regiment in 1919 was composed of men from coast to coast and the Mexican to the Canadian borders.

A large number of veterans of this city who served with the 51st Pioneers are making plans to attend the reunion and meet their buddies, some of whom they have not seen for years.

Shanghai Closed to U. S. Shipping; Italian Liner Is Bombed; 'Big Push' Starts

Chiang Kai-Shek Tells World Safety Lies in Ending War

Nanking, Aug. 31 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, premier and supreme army commander of China, told the nations of the world today that their own safety made necessary immediate international intervention to end the Sino-Japanese war.

"Intervention is imperative not only for China's sake but for international safety," the generalissimo declared in an interview.

"If the nations of the world recognize the menace of Japanese aggression and wish to prevent its consequences from descending on the whole world, directly and indirectly, they should take immediate action."

Sitting beside the generalissimo was Mme. Chiang, the former Mel-Ling Soong, his American-educated wife, who acted as interpreter. "The simple truth," Chiang said, "is that Japan acted with the object of crushing China and establishing a continental empire for herself. The significance of this fact needs no emphasis. "China happens to be fighting, not only its own battle, but the battle of all those nations who have their lives on the sanctity and validity of treaties, and especially, those whose large commercial interests in China are being systematically destroyed and their representatives driven away."

Results of War

Asked what he considered the main results of the war to date, the generalissimo listed four points.

"The first result is a united rallying of the people of China to defend themselves against a ruthless foe that disregards all canons of international law and all sense of human decency in invading China on false pretenses and destroying the lives and property of noncombatants, Chinese and foreign."

"The second result is the apparent acceptance by the powers of the displacement of international law and the substitution therefore of a system of 'incident making' which is used as a justification for chastising a country by invading it, occupying it and annexing parts of it. That is what happened in Manchuria and that is what Japan intends now."

"The third result is the revelation of the systematic intention of Japan to devastate the most important seaports of China so that commerce will be ruined and foreign interests driven from the continent; these interests were driven from Korea and from Manchuria."

"The fourth result is that Japan is steadily wiping out her own investment in China and destroying her own commercial opportunities in a land where wise, statesmanlike and courteous treatment on her part would undoubtedly have given her almost a monopoly of trade as well as the high respect of China's great population of 400,000,000. Instead of admiration she has rooted hatred and distrust deep in the Chinese heart and mind."

Chiang said he firmly believed China would not be defeated if Japan continued the war. "What over the outcome China will defend her country to the bitter end."

War Against Obscene Magazines

New York, Aug. 31 (AP)—A war against obscene magazines was urged today by the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice as an aid in checking sex crimes against children. The society reported 17 objectionable magazines had been barred from newsstands by court proceedings in the last year. "Some of the sex magazines are demoralizing to susceptible adults and incite the weak-minded to sex delinquency and crime," the society said.

"See You in Heaven"

Los Angeles, Aug. 31 (AP)—Albert Dyer was to be sentenced to the gallows today for the sex slaying of three little girls. He saw his wife today, yesterday, for what may be the last time. The two discussed, matter-of-factly, who would take care of their cat and who would pay their bills. Dyer threw his arms about his wife and kissed her. She did not respond. His goodbye to her was—"Well, I'll see you in Heaven."

Speed Blamed for Accidents

Schenectady, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—Carroll E. Mealey, deputy state motor vehicle commissioner, believes excessive speed to be the direct cause of at least 95 percent of New York's automobile accidents. By radio last night, Mealey praised the state education department's highway safety courses for schools and urged eradication of the speedy driver from the highways.

English General, War Veteran and Writer, Dies at Thames Home

London, Aug. 31 (AP)—Brigadier-General Frank Percy Crozier, whose book, "The Men I Killed," precipitated an international controversy last week, died today at his home at Walton on Thames. A veteran of the South African and World Wars, he made his experiences the subject of considerable writing. He was 55 years old.

The controversy over "The Men I Killed" was capped last week by a Lisbon newspaper's urging of the Portuguese government to make an official inquiry into Crozier's statement that he had ordered his troops to shoot any Portuguese fleeing their positions in the World War.

The newspaper, Aclaro De Noticias, declared last Friday that Portugal should obtain complete reparation. The book also related that Crozier personally killed a British submarine fleeing from the Germans and a British soldier who had attacked a French woman.

Crozier in a letter to the press explained "the main purpose of this book is to expose the humbug of those in authority, false imperialists, false church leaders and others."

Insurgent Aragon Unit Wins Victory Near Zaragoza

Hondaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Aug. 31 (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Aragon forces have broken through the Spanish government's lines on the Zaragoza front, an insurgent communiqué said today.

Franco's Legionnaires, fiercely resisting a government attempt to wrest Zaragoza from them, were reported to have started a counter-advance in the vicinity of Zuera, about 15 miles north of the one-time capital of the ancient Aragon kingdom.

Fighting raged both north and south of Zaragoza. To the south strong government units have made smashing attacks through Franco's long Aragon salient from which an insurgent army for weeks has menaced the vital Madrid-Valencia highway.

Government reports said Franco's men had been driven from their mountain positions around Belchite, about 20 miles south of Zaragoza. The fall of Belchite, these advisers said, was imminent.

While the insurgent communiqué gave no details of the fracture of the government line, it was believed to have referred to the front north of Zaragoza—not the Belchite sector.

Admit Counter Thrust

Government sources themselves admitted the Zuera counter-thrust had forced "our troops to return to their bases after the arrival of reinforcements."

The Valencia defense ministry said the counter attacks were being repulsed while the government forces closed in on Belchite. The Valencia communiqué reported foreign Legionnaires and Moors in Franco's ranks had suffered heavy losses at Villamayor in the Zaragoza sector.

Earlier insurgent dispatches declared that differences between the Madrid-Valencia forces and Allied Catalan troops had caused a breakdown of the Zaragoza drive and its degeneration into a series of scattered, small attacks.

Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano, Franco's radio broadcaster-aide, criticized the government's description of the capture of Santander last week as "an Italian victory."

Telegrams of felicitation between Franco and Premier Mussolini of Italy, Queipo de Llano said, were the best evidence that the campaign had been directed by Franco and his northern aide, Gen. Fidel Dastila.

"Italian generals participated only as assistants to the Spanish commanders," the radio commentator said.

By the Associated Press.

Improved 9-W Is Military Aid, Says Senator Copeland

Senator Royal S. Copeland, candidate for mayor of New York city, saw an improved 9-W route and a Storm King by-pass as great aid to military movement in case of attack on the United States by foreign powers.

This fact was brought out at a dinner held at the Thayer West Point Inn at which the New York Senator was the chief speaker.

Citing such a project as a vital link in the coast defenses of this nation, the speaker stated that it was his theory "that if any nation could hold the Hudson river valley and the harbor of New York, they could split the nation and bring us to our knees." This, the Senator pointed out, was the plan of the British during the Revolutionary War but communication was lacking at that period and thus the plans were averted.

Value of Project

Further commenting on the military idea, Senator Copeland said: "God forbid that there shall ever be the necessity for use of this highway for defense purposes, but who can question that in case of necessity this new route would be of immense value not only in defense of our military reservation here at West Point, but of the whole nation. . . . So we must look upon this project not only as something that is done for the convenience and safety of the motorist and the truck operator, but as a route that might become the very key to defense of our country."

Light and Trolley Poles Come Down

A crew from the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation was at work this morning taking down the old iron light poles and also the square supports that formerly held the trolley wires before buses supplanted the trolley cars on Kingston streets. The trolley poles are being cut off below the sidewalk level by means of acetone blow-torches. The taller light poles, of round iron piping, are being lifted out and it is understood will be put into use elsewhere.

Use of light poles has been discontinued since the new lighting system, with wires underground, was installed in the uptown section.

KINGSTON, N. Y., AUG. 31, 1937

MINIMUM WAGE

The minimum wage question is one of the most complicated and difficult ever put before the people.
 What the effect of the legislation which recently failed to pass would have been, is very far from clear.

For more than a quarter century social workers have urged something of the sort. They have seen at first hand the hideous social results of poverty and exploitation—results completely evil both on the individual lives and on the fabric of society. A wage allowing people to have the fundamental necessities of life seemed to them the answer. They have clamored for a minimum wage for this or that class of workers, for this or that industry,
 for the protection of women and children. A maximum hour provision naturally went along with minimum wage, lest the wage provision be defeated by inhumanly long hours. This demand seemed reasonable, humane, just. Some states, some industries, some groups have gained it.

But when it comes to be applied to all parts of the country at once, all kinds and conditions of people and living conditions, with differentials in favor of a land where a kindly sun cuts out the need for fuel, warm clothing and houses built for cold, the problems attending its application become infinitely confusing.

The average citizen comes inevitably to the conclusion, however, that conditions under it could not well be more confused, chaotic and unjust than they have grown to be without it, and at least it may be worth a trial. Perhaps in the intervening months before Congress meets again some clearer, simpler version of this sort of legislation can be proposed. Then,
 if it is passed and does not work,
 it can be repealed, and the necessary social gains may be thereafter attained by other means.

ANDREW MELLON.

With Andrew Mellon's passing
 another of the great fortune
 builders of the last generation goes to his reward. The elder Morgan has been gone some years. John D. Rockefeller went only a few months ago. Morgan is known first and foremost as a banker—through whom railroads and other great businesses of the nineteenth century were financed.
 Rockefeller is known as the founder of Standard Oil. But Mellon has more fates than one.
 He made a sizeable fortune in oil,
 another in banking, and still another in aluminum. He served his country, also, as Secretary of the Treasury under Harding, Coolidge and Hoover—some say he served it better than any man since Hamilton. He gained distinction also in the post he has been said to have enjoyed most—
 Ambassador to the Court of St.
 James.

When Andrew Mellon was born, aluminum had not been separated from its clay. As he dies, scarcely a household but has some pot or gadget of the light and silvery metal. The builders of the colossal fortunes of the last hundred years are gone or going soon. Will others arise? Or has this epoch of American history passed forever?

EXPOSING RACKETS

A former business agent for a building union has been sought by police for blackmail and recently found half a continent away. He had a pleasant little way of going around to a small contractor on a job and threatening to call the workers off on a strike if he was not paid certain sums. The contractor either had to pay or leave his job incomplete.
 In the latter case, the labor and material already in the building
 would be lost, as well as the pay for the work not done, and his reputation for finishing what he started. Usually he paid.

Now the genial gentleman
 threatens to "tell plenty" if he is extradited back to the scene of his former activities. The extradition is not being delayed.
 Everybody hopes he will come back and tell all he knows—checking for truth, of course.

The rackets in the building trades are evil. They give a bad name to decent workmen who want only to do good jobs and get reasonable pay for them.
 They add to the costs of building already far too high for the public good. They benefit nobody, not even the few crooked individuals who temporarily shake down a little coin. Time somebody told!

LEASED WARSHIPS.

Most Americans will hope that the "indefinite postponement" of the plan to lease six over-age and decommissioned United States warships to Brazil will become permanent. Stated most simply,
 perhaps, the idea looks reasonable and harmless enough. The dangerous possibilities appear upon second thought and grow rapidly more serious. Such a lease, made to one South American country, might be made to others,
 keeping the thing friendly and neighborly. Other South American countries, however, did not see it in that light. Argentina's sharp objection, promptly expressed, gave the truer aspect of the case.

The United States government itself would hardly like the idea of other big navy powers leasing
 warships, obsolete or otherwise,
 to South American governments,
 but if we set the example, how could we object? Trouble in abundance could well be started,
 too, if Germany or Italy—assuming they had ships to spare—began leasing them to smaller European powers.

Civil war or international war,
 if such a calamity came to any countries on the American continent, might find those leased warships in use, and then what of our neutrality? Diplomatic problems of a particularly troublesome sort would surely follow. Much better not lease the ships at all.

SINUS INFECTION

Some years ago a number of patients in a large mental hospital were completely cured of their mental symptoms when infected teeth and tonsils were removed.

More recently, especially since the flu epidemic of 1918 and 1919, (which left many patients with sinus trouble), it has been found that when the sinus doesn't drain properly and pus accumulates, instead of symptoms of arthritis and rheumatism, many of these patients begin to have mental disturbances, usually a type of delirium.

Dr. T. C. Graves, in the British Medical Journal tells of his observations of over 2,000 cases of mental disorder sent into Birmingham Mental Hospital by three ear, nose, and throat specialists over a period of eight years. "Mental depression following influenza
 may continue until an infected area in the sinus has been effectively treated after which the mental symptoms disappear."

"In some cases of nasal sinus disease mental symptoms may be among the first of the signs and symptoms directing the attention of the family physician to the fact that the patient is ill. In some cases in which nasal sinus disease is present an examination of the nasal or nose passages may show
 only doubtful or no signs at all,
 the condition being one where the poison cannot drain away because the opening into the nose is closed. This means that the lining of the sinus will become further inflamed and the wastes or poisons from this inflammation will be absorbed by the blood and carried to all parts of the body."
 This results in arthritis or rheumatism in the joints and delirium
 or other symptoms in the brain.
 If the poison remains locked up,
 the mental symptoms persist and the patient behaves so queerly that he or she is certified as a mental patient.

It is the clearing up of nose,
 throat, sinus, ear, gall bladder,
 and intestine infection that is responsible for many of the "cures"
 obtained in the mental hospitals.

SYNOPSIS. Neil, a young federal agent, Jones Janet, a Baltimore girl. She keeps a date with wealthy, flashy Prescott Fanning who kidnaps her aboard his yacht. Next day a mysterious phone call tells Neil Janet is in trouble on the yacht at Absalom's Harbor. Rushing there, he finds a locked cabin, Fanning shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Neil vows he will rescue her. He keeps up the river and hides her in the best suite.
 Returning to the village hotel, he resumes his role of visiting fisherman to watch developments.
 Horace Kettering, a Baltimore
 lawyer, and his son arrive to fish.

Chapter 14
 Absalom's Agony

KETTERING threw up his head
 and sniffed the fresh morning
 air. "This is great, gentlemen. A man works himself near to death
 in the city, and what does he get out of it? A couple of days' fishing
 a year!"

"Work's a damn bad habit," said
 Longene.

Kettering turned to Neil. "And you?" he asked.

"Ford Wheatley."

"Pleased to meet you, Mr.
 Wheatley. You're a stranger in the village, I take it?"

"Yes. Down for the fishing like yourself."

"Fine! You must come out with my son and me as our guests. . .
 Well, I'll be seeing you, gentlemen." He saluted them and climbed back in the car. The son had not opened his mouth.

There was something about his busy tongue and daring eyes that made Neil uneasy. This was not a man that he could trust.

"A talkative cuss," he remarked.
 "Yeah," said Virgil turning the cigar. "Looks like a case of the fox fathering the bull pup."

At that moment Neil saw a wisecracking figure appear on the Nadj's deck, run wildly forward and disappear through a door. He forgot the Ketterings. The man reappeared on deck with two matresses. They ran into the after house. Presently they came on deck again, hung themselves anywhere into the dinghy and pulled into the dinghy and pulled into the dinghy.

Virgil, who had not noticed anything amiss, was talking amiably about the city slickers he had known. The men in the dinghy tied their little boat to the wharf in front of the store and came running across the road, white-faced and staring, with horror. Virgil broke off suddenly.

"What the heck is the matter
 with these fellows?"

"Police!" they gasped out. "We want the police. . . Where can we find the police?" All three were young men without experience,
 and they had completely lost their heads. There was a steward in his white coat and two sailors.

Their hysterical excitement
 made Virgil sour. "What's the matter with you?" he demanded. "We ain't got no police here. What do you want police for?"

All tried to explain at once.
 "Murder, mister!" There's been a murder aboard the yacht!"

The owner is murdered! . . . A bullet right through his head! . . . Must have been shot last night when we were ashore. . . We slept on board all night without knowing it. . .

Virgil stood up suddenly. "Murder!" he gasped. "My God!"

Neil's nerves quivered at the sound of the word. "Murder!"
 he echoed. "How terrible!"

"And the girl is gone!" cried the steward.

"What girl?" demanded Virgil.
 All three explained together.
 "We had a girl on board. . . The boss' girl. . . And she's gone!"

How could she get off? The other boys looked at the floor. "One at a time!" shouted Virgil waving his hands. "You, Jake, run and fetch the doctor. You men come in the store!"

Too Much For Virgil
 NEILL followed them inside. As a stranger, he was disregarded.
 Virgil, being the leading citizen,
 felt that it was up to him to take command of the situation but it was a bit too much for him. He flung his derby on the counter and ran his hands through his hair as if he would tear it out. "Keep cool!
 Keep cool!" he shouted.

Every time he asked a question
 he got three answers. The crew it seemed, could not agree on the simplest statement of fact. Out of the confusion Neil could only pick a phrase here and there.

"Found him when I took his morning coffee down. . . In the girl's cabin. . . The door was busted in. . . There was a hell of a fight while we were ashore. . .
 You're crazy! It was the boss himself busted the door in! . . . Nothing else was disturbed. . . We don't know who the girl was. . . Real nice quiet girl. . . We were aboard last night before 10:30. . ."

It was no part of Neil's game to try to bring order out of the confusion. He listened, nerves taut.
 Virgil looked at him in a distracted fashion, forgetting he was a stranger. "Reckon I better call up the county constable."

"It's the obvious thing to do."

"But he's a farmer. He don't know nothing."

Call him anyway."

Virgil sent his clerk running to make the call.

"And Mr. Button Billings, the J. P.," he went on pulling his hair,
 "he'll have to be in on this. He's an old grandmother, that's what he is. Oh, my God! He'll bail everything up, and the newspapers will call us liars, and moss-backs and stick-in-the-mud!"

Neil said nothing. If things got balled up it would be fine.

"If I only knew where to lay my hands on the proper man to handle the case!" said Virgil. After taking an agitated turn back and forth,
 his face cleared. "I know what I'll do. I'll get Mark Boninger. He's a man-of-the-world. And he's one of us. We don't want no foreigners hornin' in. Mark will tell us how to do everything right."

When the clerk returned, he was sent back to call up Mark Boninger
 and also the justice of the peace.

"Tell Mr. Button Billings to come straight to the yacht. He lives across the harbor."

Virgil ran out of the store, accompanied by the crew. At the door they met the doctor coming in and carried him with them. All five of them piled into the yacht's dinghy, loading her almost to the gunwale. "No more room," they cried, when Neil started to follow them, and rowed away. Neil was left on the wharf. He looked around for another skiff, but there were too many watching them now.

Pawing For Evidence
 LIKE a wireless flash, word of the murder had spread from one end of the village to the other.
 Men, women and children stopped everything and came running to the harbor. Nothing like this had ever happened in Absalom's Harbor. House work was suspended, the stores shut up and fish left without sale. The excitement in every face made Neil sore. What is it to them? he thought.

At first they contented themselves with lining up along the harbor road, staring out at the yacht and passing the same bits of information back and forth. Then one man jumped in his skiff. Immediately there was a stampede
 for the skiffs and a crazy crowd
 set rowing swiftly to the yacht.
 Women and children were left ashore.

Neil was unable to obtain a place in a skiff until Jake the fisherman got the idea of starting a ferry at two bits a head. Thus some minutes passed before he got aboard the yacht.

The saloon below was packed to suffocation. The men had pulled off their hats out of respect to the dead, and were put up with the smell of a glimpse through the door of the after cabin. Neil worked his way through them. Everything that happened here was of vital importance to him. He was tall enough to look over a good many heads and he saw Virgil and the doctor, helped by the two sailors, examining the body, searching for clues, and so on. The young steward sat on the starboard locker holding his head between his hands.

Everything in the room—including the gun—was being well
 pawed over in the search for "evidence," and Neil smiled grimly to himself. Lucky he had only these hints to deal with! He saw Virgil kick up the rug, and the floor became the port seat locker, and hold it up for all to see.

Virgil was continually issuing orders without taking any steps to see if they were carried out.

"Quit your shoving, men! Ain't you got no sense of what is fitting?"

"The girl must have swum ashore. She couldn't have got far.
 You, Tom Bolling, organize a posse
 among the men and search the woods across the harbor. Send a cat up the ridge, and somebody to stop at every house and ask if she appeared for shelter!"

A voice from the crowd said:
 "Somebody stole my skiff last night."

"Well then, maybe she tried to escape in that," said Virgil. "A woman could row far. All you men that have motor-boats organize a search up both shores of the river and into the creeks. What like girl was she?"

The two sailors attempted to describe Jane. Very little could be gathered from their efforts, except the pink dress and the black velvet cape.

"She musta had a guy helping her," said a voice.

"What guy?" asked Virgil.

"How the heck should I know?
 Who was it busted in the door?"

"The dead guy."

"Maybe he was already inside
 and the door was locked."

Neil stifled. This was getting too close to the truth.

Despite Virgil's efforts, Mr. Button
 Billings moves the body and holds an inquest tomorrow.

Hoover Passengers Tell of Bombing

Aboard the President Hoover (by radio to Shanghai) Aug. 31 (AP).—American travelers aboard this bombed luxury liner told today of their hairbreadth escape from death when the peace of the afternoon tea hour yesterday was suddenly blasted by a squadron of four Chinese air raiders.

Her sides pierced with shrapnel and her decks scarcely scrubbed of the blood of one mortally wounded American and nine others seriously wounded, the Hoover ploughed at full speed through the torrid China Sea for Kobe, Japan. S. Haskell, a mess steward, died shortly after he was struck in the stomach by flying shrapnel.

One of the bombs, witnesses said, barely missed the liner's after smokestack. Had the missile plunged through the stack it might have destroyed the engine room and sunk the ship with its hundreds of passengers and crew members.

The Hoover arrived outside the faraway buoy in the estuary of the Yangtze, at 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon and anchored, awaiting the tide to go upriver for American refugees from Shanghai.

About 5:15 p. m., while many passengers were having tea four Chinese planes suddenly appeared overhead and dropped a salvo of bombs from a height of 500 to 600 feet.

There were no hits, but the passengers were thrown into panic.

Capt. George W. Yardley, commander of the 21,900-ton liner, ordered all passengers to don life preservers and go below. Most obeyed but a few of the more daring insisted on staying to watch the terrifying bombardment and the counter attack of Japanese anti aircraft batteries and planes.

The first bomb exploded 50 feet ahead of the Hoover, spouting up a geyser of water; the second fell in the sea about an equal distance to starboard.

The bombers wheeled and then, swooping to within 200 or 300 feet of the decks, they unloaded three more bombs one of which struck aft on the portside, missing the rear smokestack by a hair's breadth, and splashing the hull with flying shrapnel.

Another projectile shattered the porthole windows of the main dining room. It seemed almost impossible that many Americans were not killed by the showers of flying glass and shrapnel.

Immediately after the second attack, the bombing planes gained altitude and circled the ship as if preparing for another onslaught. Three minutes later two Japanese planes appeared and pursued the Chinese to the southwest. One of the Chinese planes held off the pursuit while the others escaped.

Boarding House Destroyed by Fire

Fire completely destroyed the three-story, 40-room Somerville Villa located at Leeds, about Sunday noon. The loss is estimated at $20,000.

When the fire was discovered it had gained such headway that it was but a matter of moments before the entire building was a mass of flames. Firemen from Leeds were unable to battle the flames due to lack of water, and efforts to save some furnishings were balked by the rapid spread of the fire.

Some years ago the Somerville place was a popular summer boarding house, but today only the foundation remains of the 40-room structure.

Model Railroad Club Considered

There is a possibility that Kingston may have a model railroad club—the ultimate result hanging on the fact of how many people there are in this locality who have this hobby and would be willing to band together in such an organization for the benefit of all.

A meeting will be held of all interested persons on Wednesday evening, September 15, at 8 o'clock, at the Y. M. C. A. building on Broadway, for the purpose of either laying the foundation for such a club or abandoning the project.

A model railroad club makes it possible for men who have always had a secret admiration of railroads and their surroundings, to realize some of the ambitions they have probably felt at some time to actually do some railroad layout. By means of accurate scale models, (not toys), and a club layout, a regular miniature system can be constructed which makes possible many hours of happy spare-time work. Model railroading is strictly a hobby for business men who wish some outside, interesting activity in their lives, and model railroad clubs have been formed all over the country. The idea originated in England and spread throughout the world, and today New York city and many other municipalities have their own model clubs. An excellent place is available for a local layout but it remains to be seen as to just how much interest there is in Kingston for such a project.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Brutal frankness is the keynote of the first dramatic criticism movie aspirants receive. It is fortunate for the ego of many of them that they never see these confidential reports on their screen tests passed around to executives from day to day.

These samples, minus names, will indicate what you, if you are a prospective screen testee, may expect in the way of a report:

"Miss X—Ingenu, about 20, blonde. Doing a scene with Miss Y. Clean-cut looking young lady but unfortunately no depth to her reading of dialogue. High-pitched voice that carries no weight and gets monotonous. Miss X is hardly ready for the demands we might have for her."

"Miss Y—Well set-up brunette with swell personality. Unfortunately Miss Y has a difficult profile for the camera. Sort of a pug nose, but she has personality and can develop into a comedienne. Miss Y is worth a trial for the bits she can do. Not hard to look at, but the nose difficulty takes her out of the beauty class. See the test please."

"Mr. X—Dark juvenile with a gal named Miss Z. Two people romping through a scene as though they were just there for the day and brought their lunch to fill in a gap. The Z gal is a buxom lass who has nothing. No interest."

"Miss A—in some scenes for a current production. Unfortunately Miss A did not look so well in these tests photographically. The scenes asked the gal to give more than she had."

"Miss B—Brunette prima donna. Extensive singing test. . . Slight in stature and not hard to look at. Sells a song well. Round-faced and is probably younger than she looks in the test. . . Knows the tricks of commercial singing and is worth a look if you need a singer."

"Miss C—About 17 and a hooper. Does a tap specialty. Good dancer but bad saleslady. . . Even when you're good you have to sell."

"Mr. D—Agent brought the cut-outs from a foreign picture back with him. Mr. D is a blonde, about 23. I guess he is a good actor but the cut-outs were with and without sound track and therefore not a fair test. If he is half as good as the agent says he is, maybe he has something."

"Mr. E—Dark juvenile with a gal named Miss Z. Two people

New Parks Will Give Kingston Best System in Hudson Valley

Before the snow dies again, Kingston will have three newly developed parks to add to the fine park system that has been pushed forward under the Heiselman administration.

City Engineer James Norton took a Freeman reporter on a tour of the three new parks, all being developed as WPA projects, and pointed out the advantages that three widely separated sections of the city will derive from the construction program now going forward.

At the summit of the Boulevard, opposite the road leading up to the Ulster County Hospital, is located Lawton Park, a tract of land comprising 17 acres which was given to the city by William Lawton, local foundry owner, about a year ago. This land is on one of the highest points in the city, overlooking the central section. It is heavily wooded and makes an ideal spot for a park.

Winter Sports.
A force of 32 men is working at Lawton Park and already the undergrowth has been cleared and the trees have been trimmed. Paths are under construction which will ramble about through the vast acreage, and a playground will be located at the upper end just off the highway, where the usual playground equipment will be placed. A fine graded hill is also under construction which will afford an excellent place for sleigh riding in the winter time, and a path for strolling in the summer months. City Engineer Norton made it plain that no automobiles would be allowed to drive through the park but ample parking facilities for cars would be made at both ends of the tract.

Entrances to Lawton Park will be off South Washington avenue, South Wall street, and the Boulevard.

A water line is being laid to supply the park with water and fireplaces will be built which will make the place into an ideal picnic grounds. A comfort station will probably be erected, which will place Lawton Park in the same category with the other fine parks of Kingston.

The City Engineer stated that this bit of work was costing about $20,000, of which the city was paying $8,000, and judging from the work now under way and the plans still to be completed, the finished project will add greatly to the civic grandeur of Kingston.

In Wilbur Section
The second of the three new developments is Clearwater Park, a triangle-shaped three-acre tract, located between Brooks and Chapel streets in the Wilbur section of the city.

The land for this park was donated to the city by the late Judge A. T. Clearwater and is now under development by the WPA with a force of eight men at work clearing the brush and trimming the trees. A little brook bubbles and boils down over moss-covered rocks and Mr. Norton revealed plans which will make this little park a real show-place and picnic grounds. Some playground equipment will also be installed here. Both Clearwater Park and Lawton Park are covered with excellent shade trees which are being trimmed and thinned out.

Lacks Shade Trees
Hutton Park will be the name of the third new development, which is located a block off the East Chester street by-pass on Grant street. This location comprises three acres of what is now brush lot. No work is being done on this park as yet, but the WPA has approved the plans which will transform the land into a playground for the neighborhood children. A comfort station and the necessary water facilities are planned but City Engineer Norton pointed out that one disadvantage of this park is the lack of suitable shade trees. It will be necessary to transplant small trees to this park and it will take several years before these trees will have grown to the place where they will afford shade.

The land for this third park was donated to the city by the Hutton Estate and work will begin shortly on the development of this site.

When the three new parks are completed and added to the extensive park system already in operation and proving their worth this summer to the thousands of kiddies that have spent many muggy hours in them under supervised play instructors, Kingston will be able to boast of the finest park system of any city in the Hudson valley.

Jail Mule.

Invisible Clock.

Wheeling, W. Va.—The aged town clock will be heard but not seen. City Manager Harry J. Humphrey ordered the top of the clock tower, containing the faces, dismantled. The lower part, housing the works, will remain and the hourly chimes will ring as usual.

A Good Campaigner.

Oklahoma City—This legal brain twister confronted Attorney General Mac Q. Williams: "Must a school board member be able to read and write the English language?" "A Mr. X," wrote a county attorney, "was elected to a district school board. Now other members desire to remove Mr. X because he can not read or write English."

Williams can't find a law to cover the situation.

Under the provisions of the new state law women for the first time are allowed to serve on juries in the state. The new law goes into effect September 1.

The eight women who have the honor of being the first drawn to serve for jury duty are: Elizabeth Bishop, 12 South Washington avenue; Ellen Gurnick, of Marlborough; Ellen Gurnick, of Alabon; Catherine Harford, of RFD 3, Kingston; Leona Hillriegel, of Arena, town of Hardenburgh; Katherine Knoll, of Lew Beach, town of Hardenburgh; Selita Rosa, of Shandaken; and Lillian Shreley, of Spring Glen. The eight women were drawn Monday for jury duty.

HURLEY.

Hurley, Aug. 31.—Regular church services will be held next Sunday, September 5, at 10:30. Sunday school at 9:30 o'clock. During the month of August the church has been closed, as many repairs have been made.

The Rev. and Mrs. Chester C. Chilton have been spending their vacation during August with Mrs. Chilton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mahblitt, at Redfield, Ia. On their return trip they have been detained at Wellsboro, Pa., due to the flood waters in that section.

Pulaski Memorial Day Parade Oct. 10

Residents of Westchester are taking an active part in organizing the Pulaski Memorial Day Parade which takes place in Manhattan, Sunday, October 10. John A. Paterek, chairman of the General Pulaski Memorial Day Committee announced yesterday at its offices at the George Washington Hotel, Manhattan.

Among those who are members of the Clergy Committee are: The Rev. Thaddeus E. Kaminski, Poughkeepsie; the Rev. Ignatius J. Bladyga, of the Rev. Michael F. Kowalewski, of Newburgh, the Rev. Stanislaus J. Malinowski, Kingston; the Rev. Vincent E. Daskiewicz, 32 Washington street, Hastings-on-Hudson; the Rev. John S. Felczak, Pulaski Highway, Pine Island; the Rev. Edward Fabinski, Walden; and the Rev. Vincent J. Raitt and the Rev. Joseph R. Polenski, Florida. This will be the first parade ever held to commemorate the memory of Casimir Pulaski, the Polish hero who gave his life for the cause of the American Revolution. The parade will proceed along Fifth avenue, Manhattan, from Washington Arch to 59th Street. It takes place in the afternoon, and is expected to be the largest celebration of Polish-Americans of the century, with 50,000 participating representing all Polish-American fraternal, military and social organizations in Greater New York, Westchester, Connecticut and New Jersey. In the morning special Masses for Pulaski will be held in all of Westchester's Polish Roman Catholic churches. A banquet will take place at the George Washington Hotel at night.

President Roosevelt has designated October 11th as Pulaski Day, but October 10th has been substituted to facilitate traffic conditions.

General Pulaski, who, at the age of 25 had already gained a reputation for his part in the struggle to preserve Poland from partition by neighboring states, came to this country in July, 1777 to join Washington's army. He played an important part in winning the battle of Brandywine and it was during the siege of Savannah, where he rendered his most distinguished service, that he was fatally wounded and died two days later, October 11, 1779, at the age of 31.

The resolution authorizing President Roosevelt to set aside

Pulaski was introduced by Congressman Leo Kocakowski of Illinois. It was passed unanimously April 5 and approved by the President April 13.

American Oil Company Again makes Gas History with

Greatest AMOCO-GAS

The history of America is the story of achievement. The story of men who dreamed great dreams... and then made these dreams come true.

This American Spirit, which made the U.S. the greatest nation in the world, has been one of the major factors in the success of the American Oil Company. This company revolutionized the automotive industry—made possible today's high compression motor—by introducing Amoco-Gas, the first and original special motor fuel.

Amoco-Gas, for years, has held more world's records than any other motor fuel. But science dreamed of an even greater Amoco-Gas. So we spent millions of dollars... new processes were invented and patented... new equipment perfected... the greatest and most modern refining unit in the world was made even more modern.

Result: the new Amoco-Gas is the greatest in our history! Literally, better than the world's best! Try it! You'll get a new driving thrill—and real economy!

New York, Aug. 31 (AP)—The

stock market today took its time

about extending Monday's rally,

but leading issues managed to edge into higher territory.

While early gains of fractions

to a point, the market was in some instances near the Dealings were exceptionally slow, but volume was slightly

ahead of the preceding drowsy

PORT EWEN NEWS

Local Boy Scouts Enjoy Camping

Port Ewen, Aug. 31.—Eighteen members of Port Ewen Boy Scout Troop No. 26 spent a very enjoyable week-end camping along the Hudson river.

Each boy brought his own food supply and prepared his own meals. However, the rigors of swimming, fishing and boating so sharpened the appetite, that many trips home by boat and bike were made for extra eatables. Another contributing cause of the food shortage was credited to Scout Leitch's dog who ate up a quantity of frankfurters.

The campsite presented an interesting appearance from the river with the American flag floating above the tents and the boats moored along the water's edge. In fact a visitor observed that the outfit looked more like a sea scout troop since so many of the boys had brought their own boats equipped with outboard motors.

Saturday evening a passing boat, attracted by the campfire, inquired by flash light signals what was going on. Peter Savicki, a member of the troop who holds an amateur broadcasting license, was able to intercept the message and make return by international code, much to the delight of his fellow scouts.

The week-end was such a success that the eight of the boys could not be persuaded to break camp and so stayed another day.

The boys were accompanied by Scoutmaster Frank Palen, Assistant Scoutmaster George Clark and Outdoor Activity Chairman Robert Clark, the latter having secured the tents and assisted the boys in establishing camp Saturday morning.

Port Ewen, Aug. 31.—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Sarah Clark, Thursday, September 2. A pot luck dinner will be served at noon and the business meeting will be held at 2:30 p. m. Members are asked to come prepared to sew.

Shanghai Closed To U. S. Shipping

Japan's action in warning the native population of an impending attack was believed to have been inspired by sharp reaction abroad against sudden Japanese attacks in which thousands of noncombatant Chinese have been killed or maimed.

Japanese also claimed capture of the Shanghai-Woosung Railroad Station. But at least part of the Japanese massed aerial and artillery apparently was a frantic effort to close a gap in Japanese lines between Fooning and Lubo.

Pollution, a food shortage verging on famine and over-burdened water and sanitation resources created a disease menace against which Shanghai foreign residents must find themselves defenseless.

Foreign and municipal authorities joined forces with emergency relief workers to combat the danger of epidemics, particularly the dreaded cholera to which hunger-weakened Chinese are particularly susceptible.

99 Missionaries Missing. Advice from Peking said American consular officials in North China were alarmed for the safety of 99 United States missionaries who have not been heard from since the Tsinan consulate was evacuated Friday.

They and 40 others are believed to be caught before parallel Japanese columns advancing southward from Peking and Tientsin.

Generalissimo Chiang, warning of commercial and political consequences to the rest of the world of Japanese domination of China, declared:

"The question of intervention rests with the powers which, like the United States, created the Kellogg pact and nine-power treaty and who organized the League of Nations with its covenant. A district responsibility rests on the shoulders of someone to prevent the utter ruin of China."

(In Geneva, meanwhile, Chinese delegates to the League of Nations placed the whole blame for the war on Japan's "irrevocable policy of military conquest and expansion. The Chinese called it a case of aggression pure and simple, but framed their letter as a statement, not as an appeal for league action.)

The closing of Shanghai as a port for United States merchant vessels on orders from Admiral Harry Yarnell, commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet, and Consul General Clarence Gauss was the direct result of the bombing yesterday by Chinese planes of the Mercy liner President Hoover and the killing of one of her seamen.

2,000 Americans Marooned. The effect of the action was to maroon some 2,000 Americans, including 500 women and children, in this war-shattered city.

The order from the highest ranking naval and civil officers here commanded all vessels flying the American flag—freighters as well as passenger liners—to suspend calling at Shanghai indefinitely.

In addition to the already cancelled schedules of the liners, President Hoover and McKinley, the order specifically directed the President Grant, due at Shanghai today, and the President Coolidge and President Van Buren, due here September 9, to pass up Shanghai. The Grant is en route to Manila; the Coolidge and Van Buren were told to proceed to Hong Kong.

Because of the absence of naval vessels suitable to evacuate the remaining Americans, authorities have not reached a decision on the best means of taking United States citizens to safety. The only available navy ship is the supply vessel gold star, from Guam. A small capacity of 60 passengers and speed of eight knots make her of limited value.

Look for Strange Man Who Scared Boys Along Esopus

Deputy Sheriff Vredenburg, Winne and Tinnie spent most of the forenoon today searching the section along the Esopus near Kowalski's gas station, town of Marlinton, for a man who is alleged to have chased boys who were swimming in the Esopus at that point Monday afternoon.

The report, received at the sheriff's office this morning, said that the disturber was a big man, with long hair reaching to his shoulders and poorly dressed. Mr. Kowalski told the officers that he had seen the man, but had no idea as to his identity. He also said that a woman had reported that she seen the man Sunday afternoon hiding in the bushes along the road that leads from the state road to the creek.

This point in the Esopus is known as the "fording place" and is used by those who wish to get from Route 209 to the Lomontville road by the shortest route.

Hot Weather In Adirondacks

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—The Adirondack mountains—traditionally New York state's coolest area—reported extreme high temperatures today as the summer resort season headed into September.

At Lake Placid, high in the mountains, the United States weather Bureau reported a maximum reading of 90 degrees yesterday. At Bloomingdale, 17 miles away, in the comparative flatlands of the Saranac river valley, 85 was recorded.

In the larger centers of the state, temperatures were comparatively lower. Buffalo had 88, and so did Binghamton, while at Albany it was 85.

At Albion, in western New York, no dress rehearsals were planned for the second day of classes in Prof. Charlie Howard's "School for Santa Claus." The mercury climbed to the upper 80's for the opening session.

Yesterday, six hand-picked students answered the school's opening bell in shirt sleeves and gingham, as Howard lectured on ways and means to elevate the department store Santa's profession.

Vets Hear More Pleas for Peace

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—America's Veterans of Foreign Wars heard more pleas for peace today and lined up for their national encampments biggest blow off—a three-mile military parade that promised to last for hours.

The weatherman put his shoulder under a 38-year-old heat record and promised the marchers more of the bright sun that has hoisted Buffalo's late August maximum mark to 85 for two days in a row.

Lieut. Col. Ronald C. Brock, parade marshal, gave the first of an estimated 75 bands and drum corps the nod to step off at 2:30 p. m. for the long grind.

He estimated 35,000 veterans and auxiliary members would march in a line at least six hours long.

The outfalls waited for their spots in the parade, many flocked to Broadway and auditorium for the convention's second business session, where Senator Joseph Lee of Oklahoma and Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York city were on the "peace for America" program.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey and National Commander Bernard W. Kearney of Gloversville, N. Y., keynoteed the peace campaign in opening day speeches.

Today

Broadway: "The Good Earth" — Carl Buck's gifted novel of the Chinese millions who work and live in poverty and of one Chinese of the soil who dreamed of other things and went on to make his dream a reality, has been made into a sweeping and valuable human document of a people who ask nothing and expect nothing from existence. The play is especially noteworthy at this time because of the war with Japan for it gives a composite picture of the mind of the average Chinese laborer. Called one of the greatest motion pictures ever produced by critics everywhere, production stars two of Hollywood's finest actors, Paul Muni and Luise Rainer. Their play is so excellent that it brings to the stage a great picture of a whole play is the history of a man and a woman's unending struggle against nature and opposition and the settings are so realistic and the direction is so good that the story moves to a climax in a never ending series of perfect dramatic episodes. Others in the cast include: Louis, Walter Connolly, Ralph and Charles Grapelle, Sidney Franklin directed the four star triumph.

Kingston: "Rustler's Valley" — "Nights of Mystery." Hopalong Cassidy rides again in the new offering on the double program, a tale flaming with shooting, hard riding and bravery under almost unbelievable conditions. As the title admits, the story concerns Hopalong and a mean group of rustlers. William Boyd is taken from the novel of S. S. Van Dine and it is another complicated tale of murder, graft, withers, Roscoe Karns, Harvey Stephens and Ruth Coleman head the leaders.

Orpheum: "The Great O'Malley" and "Rembrandt." The life of a New York city copper and his task of tracking down a tough criminal makes exciting screen fare at the downtown theatre with Pat O'Brien, Humphrey Bogart, Ann Sheridan, Donald Crisp and Frieda Inescort featured. "Rembrandt" is the life of the great painter with Charles Laughton in the starring role. The production is lavish if somewhat boring at times.

Tomorrow

Broadway: "Between Two Women." A parlor drama that centers around the old eternal triangle idea is to be witnessed at the Broadway with Frauchot Tane as the bewildered man in the case and with Maureen O'Sullivan and Virginia Bruce both trying to snatch him for their own good. Produced by Metro-Goodwyn-Mayer, the show has a unity about it that makes the picture fairly entertaining.

Kingston: "Born Reckless" and "Windjammer." Two thrillers come to the uptown theatre, the first the story of a hard boiled, adventurous young fellow who enjoys a good fight or considers himself fortunate when caught in a dangerous spot. Brian Donlevy is the star of this attraction. "Windjammer" is the other feature with the rugged George O'Brien starred in a story of the sea and men whose courage is put to the test and not found wanting.

Orpheum: "History is Made at Night." Walter Wanger has fashioned an entertaining and exciting melodrama from this story of a head waiter who falls in love with a rich American girl. The play is brilliant with smart dialogue and the sinking of a giant liner at sea is motion picture make believe at its best. The cast offers such notables as Charles Boyer, Jean Parker and Leo Carillo.

There's a society for most everything else, including owners of trailers. Why not an association for living as Our Ancestors Did, with an allotment composed of log cabins, and with dues and exclusive membership and all that to make residence in it alluring?

Funeral Services Held for Famous Charter Oak

The tree known as the Charter Oak, famous in American history as the traditional hiding place of the Connecticut royal charter, was blown down during a storm on August 21, 1856. Afterward its age was computed to be nearly a thousand years old, states a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

When Sir Edmund Andros became governor general of New England in 1687 he went to Hartford to claim the charter granted in 1662 under which the colonists had enjoyed a large measure of self-government and which the crown maintained had been forfeited. At a council meeting Andros demanded the surrender of the prized document. The colonial officials protested and the governor made a lengthy speech which lasted until after dark. Suddenly all the candles were extinguished and when they were relighted the charter had mysteriously disappeared from its place on the table. According to tradition, it had been spirited away by Capt. Joseph Wadsworth and hidden in the hollow trunk of the large oak.

The hiding of the charter, however, did the colonists little immediate good. If Andros had no charter to seize, neither had the colonists a charter to appeal to, since the governor general dissolved the existing government and suppressed their liberties. Two years later, however, after King James II had been deposed and Andros discharged from his office, the charter was brought from its hiding place and recognized by William and Mary as the supreme law of Connecticut.

It was never proven that the charter was hidden in the oak, and the honor was not attributed to that particular tree until 1780, more than a century after the visit of Andros to Hartford. However, after its destruction by the storm, the historic tree was so revered by the people of Hartford that a funeral oration was delivered in its honor and the spot where it stood marked by a granite monument.

Fires in Anthracite Mines — Fires in anthracite mines result on occasion from the accumulated heat of reactions which originally occur at fairly low temperatures, according to Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, publication of the American Chemical Society. Analysis of gases in the mine atmosphere is recommended for detecting incipient heating.

WAR Gleaners Are Heroes In Battle For Bread

AMERICA is more than an idle spectator this year in the world-wide struggle for bread centered in the wheat fields of Europe. While Canada's crop is the shortest in 30 years, the United States yield made a spectacular comeback after years of drought and put the nation in the export picture once more. The government's estimate was a harvest of 668,000,000 bushels.

GERMANY taught world powers that food meant victory when its people were half starved in the World War. Now the Nazi government has requisitioned all bread grains after a harvest of 10 to 15 per cent below normal, and is staging festivals such as this one to glorify the harvest.

RUSSIA approached Stalin's goal of a 42,205,000,000-bushel harvest for the first time despite charges that much wheat spoiled before it could be reaped by old-fashioned methods. Still unsatisfied, the government plans a 70 per cent increase in next year's acreage.

ITALY—rejoiced in the prospect of a 292,000,000-bushel wheat harvest, enough to place the nation at last beyond the necessity of importation. Mussolini, shown hoisting a bundle toward a thresher on one of the farms of the reclaimed Pontine marshes, originated the "battle of wheat" and advanced it by entering the harvest fields himself.

France Is Second Only to Russia in Air Power

Paris.—Air Minister Pierre Cot declares France today is second only to Russia in air power.

"No air force in the world has ever made the progress in 12 months that we have made in the last year," he said.

He listed the accomplishments.

"We have increased our modern equipment in use by 110 per cent. By the end of 1937 the increase will be 180 per cent."

"There has been an increase of 80 per cent in the reserve."

"Our bombing power has increased 400 per cent."

"Our air force has become one of the most powerful in the world; second only to that of Soviet Russia."

Nationalization has strengthened the aircraft industry, he said.

"Our industrial potential has been raised in the course of a year by 30 per cent," he said. "By the end of 1938 it will be 100 per cent greater than it was in 1936."

"We have raised the officer strength by 25 per cent and in order to give our air force vigorous commanders have lowered the retiring age limit."

It's been hot in England, too, so hot that a London judge invited the barristers in court to take their wigs off.

ONE TRIP OR MANY?

MEATS EGGS POULTRY DAIRY PRODUCTS

"ONE TRIP" HANDLING, SHIPPING, SELLING AND DELIVERY

THAT MAKES BETTER PRICES FOR ME!

PRODUCER

[In daily touch with every meat, poultry and dairy consuming city, town, and hamlet in the United States]

IT COSTS a farmer less to take his eggs, poultry, butterfat and livestock to town all at one time than when he takes each of them to market separately. Trips eat up time, and increase total marketing costs.

What is true of these farm products is also true of the finished products. When meats and by-products, poultry, eggs, butter, cheese and other such foods are shipped and delivered to retail outlets in separate lots, the total cost of distribution is higher than when they are handled, shipped, sold and delivered together.

Most retail stores which sell meats also sell poultry, eggs, butter and cheese. To better serve these retailers, Swift & Company prepares and sells not only meats but dairy and poultry products. Refrigerator car space is utilized by placing boxed meat, and dairy and poultry products, beneath the suspended meats. The same salesmen sell all of these foods to retailers. The same truck delivers all of them to the same store.

As a result of these methods, Swift & Company's marketing costs are such that in 1936 it returned to producers approximately 76 cents out of the average wholesale food and by-products dollar received by it for meats, dairy and poultry products, hides, glands, etc. So small a fraction of this dollar goes to earnings that, over a period of years, these profits have had no appreciable effect upon livestock prices or meat prices.

Swift & Company

Over a period of years, Swift & Company's net profits from all sources have averaged only a fraction of a cent per pound.

Statue of Capitol Building

The statue of a woman on the dome of the Capitol at Washington is the figure of a white woman and symbolizes liberty. It is often erroneously supposed to represent an American Indian, owing to the fact that from a distance the helmet on the figure somewhat resembles the bonnet of an Indian war chief. The artist, Thomas Crawford, named the statue "Armed Liberty," but ever since it arrived at the Capitol it has been officially known as the "Statue of Freedom."

George III, who came to the British throne in 1760, was warned by his mother, "George, be king."

ARE YOUR NERVES ABOUT TO SNAP?

Barbara, who gave promise of being a charming girl, will soon be a nerve specialist's case.

Her friends, she imagines, are down on her. Jim, she's sure, takes another girl to the movies. She's so edgy she could scream.

What chance does Barbara have to win happiness out of life? Every chance, nerve specialists say. Most of the world's glamorous personalities—screen stars, writers, artistic people—have nervous, high-strung temperaments much like hers. If Barbara would direct her nervous energies properly—as they do—she'd be a delightful, lovable person.

The lively impersonation that tortures her now could be her big social asset. Instead of building up a case against Jim because he asked Jane if she liked Garbo—she could think up jolly games to entertain him. Planning inexpensive "stunt" parties would release pent-up energies, win appreciative friends.

Even those tortures—nervous-induction and sleeplessness—will yield if she meets upsets not by brooding but by dashing to a funny movie, window shopping, having tea or at a new spot.

From our 40-page booklet, HOW TO AVOID AND OVERCOME NERVOUS TROUBLES, get a physician-psychologist's advice on ways to relieve nerves, to regain cheer, joy in living.

Send 15c for our booklet, HOW TO AVOID AND OVERCOME NERVOUS TROUBLES, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

MODENA

Modena, Aug. 31.—The official board of the Clintondale Methodist Church, of which the Rev. Philip Solbjor of Modena is pastor, will sponsor a sacred concert on Tuesday evening, August 31, at 8 o'clock.

Many local people attended the annual Ulster County Fair and Grange picnic at Forsyth Park on Wednesday of last week.

The annual clambake, conducted under the auspices of the official board of the Modena Methodist Church, and which was served in Hasbrouck Memorial Hall on Thursday evening, was well attended. Proceeds will benefit the local church.

"The Unseen Guest Service" was conducted Sunday morning in the Methodist Church, with the Rev. Philip Solbjor presiding. Mr. Olson, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Solbjor, rendered solos.

Mrs. Marcus Conklin, county delegate of the Sullivan-Shafer Post of the American Legion, attended the annual convention of the Legionnaires at Troy last week in company with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Vandermark of New Paltz.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Chambers and family have returned from a visit with relatives in Massachusetts. Miss Marjorie Chambers, who spent the summer in Massachusetts, also returned.

Mrs. DuBois Grimm, accompanied by Mrs. James Doyle of Boston, Mass., have returned from a trip to California.

B. S. Enderby has charge of the bus line operating between Newburgh and New Paltz daily. A special trip is made each Saturday afternoon.

Lozen Evory of Kingston spent last week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Myron Shullis at the "Old Homestead" farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason Rose of Clintondale were callers on Mrs. Anna Miller Saturday evening.

The Rev. and Mrs. Philip Solbjor are entertaining a number of relatives from Minnesota, at the Methodist parsonage this week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Wager are moving from the Jenkins house in Jenkintown to the farm house of Louis LeFevre.

Myron Reynolds of Campbell Hall visited relatives here on Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. Andrew M. Shea of Montgomery were visitors in this section Sunday.

William Kaiser of New Paltz was a caller in town Sunday.

Wondering how many lines of a popular song the average person remembered, Ferde Grofe, who is both a composer and an orchestra leader, took a list of 10 and submitted it to 10 friends, all non-professionals. All started bravely with the first line, a few finished the second but scarcely any could recall the third. Their memory of the music, however, was better. Five summed the list through from start to finish; three knew the music of eight and the others remembered at least half of the scores. And where does that leave lyric writers?

U. S. WOULD RAISE VALUES OF CROPS

Open Farm Laboratory to Conduct Research Work.

Washington, D. C.—The most modern farm laboratory in the world has been opened by the Department of Agriculture in an effort to raise the standards of American farm products.

In an expensive building are all the latest devices for testing, grading and classification of cotton, grains, wool, hay and other agricultural products. Scientists of many years' experience are in charge.

Agriculture department officials described construction of the new Standardization building as "another step on the long road of standardization and research that seeks to raise higher the quality of American farm products."

In the building are located the bureaus directing regulatory and marketing agencies dealing with the principal farm products. Technological and economic research scientists also are housed in the air-conditioned building.

Cotton experts prepare standards for use in domestic and foreign trade. The appeal board of review examiners, the final authority in the interpretation of standards, has its classifying rooms in the building.

Along with cotton standardization and classification work, the physical and chemical properties of cotton fibers, lint and seed will be studied as a part of the expanded federal-state cotton research programs.

These studies and tests will be related to practical problems in the principal branches of the cotton enterprise from the production of raw cotton through to the finished products of cotton manufacture.

Have you heard, queries Martin Red, personal musical director for Jolson, about the prizefighter who won 30 battles via the knock-out route ... But he is jealous of his brother, a radio comedian ... who puts everybody to sleep ... riding a high horse in show business is a cinch, whispers George Fischer from Hollywood ... Until the cinch breaks and bucks you off onto a flattened ego ... Broadway, says Wilbur Hatch, is a place where it is impossible to keep a marriage secret ... News of the divorce bound to leak out ... According to Mr. Hatch, a well-known con- talto loves the simple things in life ... Especially if they're rich ... Jack Benny never buys radio material except from his own staff ... But plenty of eager volunteers flood him with late jokes ... The trouble is, Jack says, most of the jokes are years late.

Francis White, in town for summer shopping, remarked: "The weaker sex is usually the stronger sex on account of the weakness of the stronger sex for the weaker sex." ... and she's pretty enough to know ... If you want to get by in radio, advises Charles Martin, you have to be two chumps ahead of the other fellow ... George Fischer tells about the movie actor and actress who decided to marry ... Both had had three previous mates ... So their wedding invitations read: "Be sure and come. This won't be an amateur performance." ... Phil Baker defines an optimist as some one who doesn't worry about what happens ... As long as it doesn't happen to him ... Every- thing changes, remarks Raymond Paige ... Even radio jokes ... On Broadway, says Carlton Ka- Dell, if you sing your own praises, it usually turns out to be a sole ... Horace Heidt tells of the Broadway agent who got a bad scare the other day ... He was so frightened his heart came up into his mouth ... and chipped his teeth ... It's a good idea to kiss the children good night, says Joe Cook ... If you don't mind waiting up for them ... and if you like this kind of thing, let me know and maybe I'll do it again some day.

Louis Keeps Title, Is Unimpressive in His Bout with Farr

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Aug. 31 (AP)—Joe Louis still has his heavyweight championship, and he also has a new and round-eyed respect for Tommy Farr.

So have 37,000 fans who sat in Yankee Stadium last night and watched the old carnival fighter, half-blinded at the finish, jab and jimmy it out with the alleged negro thunderbolt for 15 rounds. Although they are without doubt hollering "robbery" around Fleet street today, and the headlines in the Mail are assuring each other over the matutinal scotch and splash that a Britisher hasn't a chance of winning anything in America, there wasn't much doubt that the Brown Bomber deserved the decision.

He did, as badly scared as he looked in spots. In fact, he looked as dumb as a dime dealer five most of the evening and he took a lot of fancy punches, first and last. He never learned how to fight Farr. Yet he was the better man, and Tonypandy Tommy will be the last to deny it.

Tommy didn't deny it last night even as he sat and tried to look out between battered eyes and listened to the "raspberries" that echoed and re-echoed across Yankee Stadium after Louis had been declared the winner.

Farr is a big man in the boxing game today, even though a loser. He can stay around—as he plans to do—and make himself a lot of money. He put up a great fight against a foe who was expected to knock him spraddle-legged, and when his best wasn't good enough he accepted defeat like a soldier.

Farr Not Angry
At that, it must have been a thrill for the hard-boiled battler from the desolate mining district of Wales. No fighter who ever came to these shores received a surrier reception. He was tabbed strictly a second-rater, a fighter who didn't belong in the same ring with the ebony assassin, Louis.

He must have felt good last night when, after he had given his stout-hearted best for 15 rounds, he groped his way toward the dressing room through thousands of Americans demanding the blood of referee, judges and anybody else who thought Louis had won.

But it didn't fool Tommy. He knew he had tried and failed, and he wasn't sore at anybody. The fight-writers expected him to rail at the decision, and to castigate them for the things that had been written about him. Tommy didn't do either. He looked out between eyes that were swollen almost shut and said simply: "I gave them a good go, didn't I? Tommy, then and there, made himself a lot of friends.

Different Views
Referee Arthur Donovan credited the Welshman with only two rounds, just to show you how differently they can see things. This observer thought Farr won five rounds, that Louis won eight, and that there wasn't anything in the other two. The spectators from ten rows on back thought Farr won the championship, by a country mile. It just goes to show.

This much is certain: The old carnival scrapper put up a whale of a fight; he carried the carnage to Louis most of the way, and undoubtedly would have won by a knockout if he had possessed a right-hand wallop to compare with Schmeling's.

It's also true that Louis, though he was puzzled at Tommy's style all the way and was hurt and badly frightened a few times when Farr glouted him what it took to collect himself a jab out a victory with his left.

Most Dangerous Blows
There wasn't a knockdown. In the fifth round, after the crowd had done some booing, Louis whipped over a quick right to the jaw and followed with a left that staggered Farr, but the bell saved the Welshman from serious trouble. Those were perhaps the most damaging blows of the fight. In the last two or three rounds, Louis jagged under Farr's eyes were spouting blood and he couldn't properly line up his jab. He couldn't locate Louis with the stabbing left that had pulled up to many points in the early rounds, and he was trying desperately to land a telling right. That was when Joe piled on his decisive margin.

Couldn't See Him
I couldn't see him," said plaintively in the dressing room. His face looked like it had been caught in a thrasher, middle finger of his right eye was broken and swollen, but wouldn't alibi even a nickel's.

Louis naturally was disappointed with his showing. He had admitted that Farr was a tough one to hit. Farr was back at it again today, trying to catch a glimpse of himself in a mirror. He looks pretty bad, and his entourage still plan to visit London and Paris right away. What Joe needs, they figure, good long rest.

Cleared $65,000 On Title Fight

New York, Aug. 31 (AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs, who thought he might go "in the red" on the Louis-Farr fight, apparently cleared enough to pay his expenses and a little more.

After paying off the fighters, the rental on the Yankee Stadium, and the ten per cent "cut" of the milk fund, Mike had about $65,000 left to pay all the other costs of promoting the battle and for his own share.

Here are the figures on attendance and receipts for last night's fight:

Louis Not Same, Says Schmeling

New York, Aug. 31 (AP)—Max Schmeling said it as early as the second round.

"He is no more the same Louis," he said. "At the time, even though Tommy Farr the Tough Tomato from Tonypandy, was cuffing the fuseless Brown Bomber up against the ropes, it seemed a rash statement. Louis hadn't warmed up, hadn't had time to size up his man."

But as the fight progressed, and Tommy, blood dripping from his nose and from gashes under both eyes, stubbornly refused to buckle under the world heavyweight champion's best licks, it looked better and better.

At no point in the surprising 15 rounds did Max appear impressed by the man he belted out twelve rounds a year ago last June.

At the end, when Louis' hand was raised in victory, Max was impressed rather by the durability of the Welsh miner who had gone into the ring an even money shot to go out in less than six rounds.

"That Farr," said Schmeling, whose rugged good looks are marred only slightly by his battle-scars—two puffed eyebrows and a dented nose—"he is a good, tough fighter. He fought a brave fight. But you cannot win on a brave fight. If he only could punch..."

May Drop Suit Against Farr

London, Aug. 31 (AP)—Sydney Halls, the Harrington fight promoter, indicated today he would drop his suit against Tommy Farr provided the Welshman agreed to meet Max Schmeling here later in the year.

Farr had contracted with Halls to fight in September but decided to pass it up when offered his chance to meet Joe Louis. Halls said.

"I can't say what I will do until I hear from Farr," Halls explained. "The case is still in the courts and don't want to be prejudiced by talking now but maybe we can come to some decision with Tommy."

The British press in general hailed the fight as a victory for Farr over his American critics. The Evening Standard gave Louis eight rounds, Farr six and called one even. The Star gave them six each and the others even.

Nowhere was there any press intimation that Farr should have received the decision.

Softball Meeting
This evening at 7:30 there will be a very important meeting of the Y. M. C. A. All team managers are requested to attend.

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 31 (AP)—The men's national doubles tennis title is in foreign hands today for the first time in 18 years as a result of a stunning straight set victory by Baron Gottfried von Cramm and Henner Henkel of Germany over Don Budge and Gene Mako, the Californian defending champions.

The Germans required only 70 minutes yesterday to gain their first triumph in three starts against the Americans this season, by scores of 6-4, 7-5, 6-4. Budge and Mako previously had beaten the German team in a five-set match in the all England doubles final at Wimbledon and again in four sets in the Davis Cup interzone final doubles match, also played at Wimbledon.

Although Budge insisted that he and Mako played as well against von Cramm and Henkel as they did in England, the recapitulation of the stroke analysis indicated that Mako's letdown was responsible for their first defeat in more than a year. Mako held only four of his eight service games and three of those breaks gave the German stars the openings they needed to sweep the match in straight sets.

Other Champs Lost

Four other champions also were overthrown in yesterday's sultry afternoon at Longwood. Mrs. Sarah Fainy Fabyan, who shared four previous women's titles, teamed with Alice Marble, the national singles titleholder, to set the example by defeating Mrs. John Van Ryn and Carolin Babcock, last year's winners, 7-5, 6-4.

Miss Marble and Mako surrendered their mixed doubles crown, when they lost 6-0, 6-3, to Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, New York, and Jiro Yahagishi, Japan, in a quarter-final round.

Catskill Tennis Winners Listed

The final matches in all departments of the Greene county open tennis tournament held at Catskill during the past month, have been played, and out of seven Kingstons players that entered competition, one remains to head his division.

Randall O. Rose, defending champion for two years, retired the cup from further competition by winning for the third consecutive year. Rose is rated as No. 1 star of Kingstons.

Winners listed in the other brackets are: Men's doubles—Eugene Van Loan of Athens and Gus Erickson, Sr., of Stillville; women's singles—Mary Tetterton of Albany; women's doubles—Barbara Field and Olga Kuhn of Catskill; mixed doubles—Olga Kuhn and Fred Field of Catskill. Kingstons players showed very well in the tournament with Douglas reaching the quarter finals in the men's singles, Edith Kennedy reaching the quarter finals in the women's singles, and Douglas and Edith Kennedy reaching the finals in the mixed doubles.

Army Has Five Home Grid Games

The Army football schedule contains five home games, and four out of town. Starting with Clemson College on October 2, the cadets will meet Columbia the second game of the season on the 9th. Coach Davidson states: "Unless Army is ready exceptionally early this year they will not be ready for their scheduled games. None of our practice periods can be wasted." With practice sessions consisting of 40 minutes on Mondays and Fridays and 1½ hours on other days, it can easily be seen that Davidson must plan his work carefully.

The complete 1937 schedule is as follows: October 2—Clemson College. October 9—Columbia University. October 16—Yale (at New Haven).

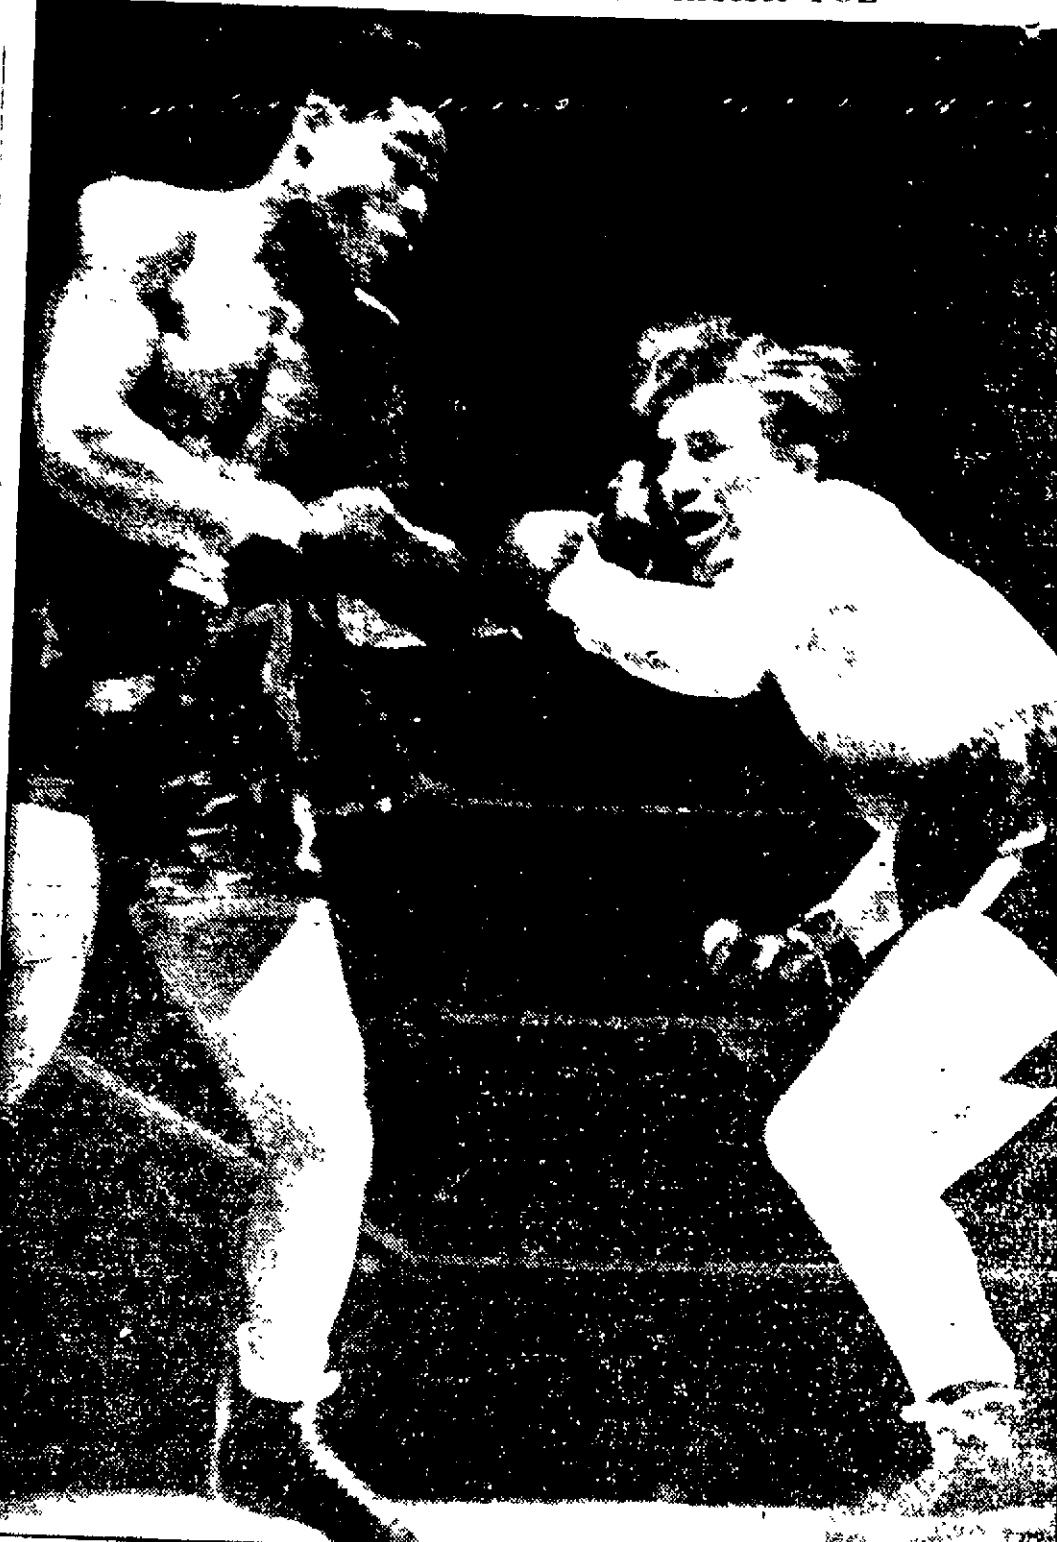

October 23—Washington University. October 30—Virginia Military Institute. November 6—Harvard (at Cambridge).

November 13—Notre Dame (at New York). November 20—St. John's College. November 27—Navy (at Philadelphia).

First game starts at 2:30 p. m. All other home games at 2 p. m.

BROWN BOMBER BLASTS BRITISH FOE

Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis fires a vicious left to the face of British Tommy Farr in this excellent action photograph of the title fight in New York's Yankee Stadium. Farr's splendid fight was still head man at the end of the 15 rounds by a decision. His first title defense came only two months after he took the crown from Jim Braddock.

TOUGH TOMMY FARR ON OFFENSIVE

Tommy Farr (left) British Empire heavyweight champion, lets go with a rather ineffective left to the Negro world champion, Joe Louis, body in their title fight at the Yankee Stadium in New York. Referee Arthur Donovan is third man in the ring. Although he took a severe beating, Farr kept coming in for more. Louis won on a decision when Farr lasted the scheduled 15 rounds.

Local Bouts Give More Action than Big-Time Battles

Joe Louis is still champion, and fistiana is still talking about his unimpressive defense of his title against Tommy Farr, last night at the Yankee Stadium.

Among remarks heard from localities who saw the gritty Welshman try to force the Brown Bomber into action were: "We'd rather see the amateur bout at the municipal auditorium."

And, they considered the whole program in their expression for not one scrap on the card came up to the standard of action set by such leather pushers as Sergeant Charles Perry, Johnny Bilecki, Mario Severino, Sam Rizzio, Danny Romano, Buddy Emerson, Joe Triola, Jimmy Thomas and other simon pures who battle in Kingstons.

A scrapper like Mario Severino could have done a lot to enliven the atmosphere at the stadium last night, with his "boring in" tactics and lightning-like slugging. Kingstons fans at the ringside of last night's festive extravaganza particularly mentioned Severino in comparing the pro bouts with the amateurs.

Severino is one of the most popular boys that ever tossed a glove in the Kingstons ring, and it but Kingstons was given the preference because of an earlier for the Mayor's Industrial Committee to expect a crowd Friday night followers. He defeated the

"Severino" not himself in that scrap," said Ivanelli, who watches him like a hawk. "Mario had been visiting Johnny Bilecki's farm and did too much swimming as well as overdoing his Polish cooking."

Mario in Good Shape
"Severino will be in top shape Friday. It'll be curtains for Rizzio, I predict."

The game little featherweight almost cried after the decision had been announced in Amsterdam, and immediately sought a return match. He gets his chance Friday. Several upstate clubs wanted it, but Kingstons was given the preference because of an earlier for the Mayor's Industrial Committee to expect a crowd Friday night followers. He defeated the Right now, such other powers as the Cubs, Cardinals and Pirates appear to be quietly falling apart.

So, the Giants, putting together timely hitting and good pitching, are making the most of it.

Yesterday, with the Cubs idle, the Giants had a chance to go into the lead. They turned the trick with a 4-3 decision over the Cincinnati Reds, and that's where McGraw's boys came in.

Of course, they had a lot of help from Terry, a new terror.

But Ott, pulled in from the outfield and now playing as good a third base as any in the league, belted his 25th homer with a mule about.

Things were fine until rookie Cliff Melton and riot finger Dick Coffman couldn't stand prosperity in the stands. Then Terry came up out of the dugout with a rush and waved wildly for Hubbell. Old squawking sawn-tered in—in the memory of the oldest resident he's never been known to hurry—and had the Reds begging for mercy. Six men went down in order, before he gave up a dinky little scratch single, and then retired the last batter.

Joe couldn't find an opening against the teasing, bobbing, weaving style of the Britisher. Louis admitted after the fight he was able to land only one good punch and it took him 13 rounds to do this.

It was the first time anybody didn't get knocked down. . . . Max Schmeling again saw "somethings."

Tommy Farr wore the Welsh dragon on the back of his bath robe. . . . If Farr had had any punch at all he would have had Louis on the deck in the eighth.

This corner scored seven rounds for Farr and eight for Louis. . . . Referee Arthur Donovan gave Louis 13 of the 15. . . . He didn't credit Farr with a heat until the ninth. . . . Bill Farnsworth, vice president of the 20th Century, came in wearing green glasses so he couldn't see the empty seats, but took 'em off when the crowd began to gather. . . . Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, sat in the press box and rooted for Farr.

Fifteen past and present ring champs were introduced and present title holders were Marcel Tili, European middleweight king; Sisto Escobar, ruler of the bantams, and Barney Ross and Lou Ambrose, heads of the welter and lightweight divisions. . . . Former champs were Jack Johnson, Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney, Max Baer, Jimmy Braddock, Max Schmeling, and Jack Sharkey, all heavies; Mickey Walker, middleweight; Johnny Dundee, featherweight; Tony Canzoneri and Benny Leonard, lightweight. . . . Braddock got the biggest hand.

Several times between rounds it looked like a puzzled Joe Louis was about to cry. . . . Reports in Farr's dressing room said Tommy had net $7,500 on himself. . . . $2,500 at 2 to 1. . . . 7 to 2 that he would win. . . . At that rate, he broke even. . . . At 6 p. m. there were 350 cops on the job at the stadium to maintain order among 300 fans outside the bleacher windows. . . . Farr and the Yankee dressing room at the stadium, Louis the one occupied by the visitors.

BATTLE OF GROCERS FIELD SATURDAY WAS PUSH-OVER

The Everett & Treadwell Fair-lawn Aces and the F. B. Matthews Colonial Aces met in a softball game Saturday afternoon to settle the burning question of which organization was the better outfit of swatters. The outcome of this fray left no doubt as to which team knew more about the game, as the Fairlawns came out on top 20-4.

Harry Grey hurled the Fairlawns to victory, helped along by Harry Wilbur's home run and the crowning of his catcher Delaney. The Broadway grocers, banded pitcher Joe Elias' offerings to all carriers of the lot and the report has it that Mr. Elias is making a sore back caused by too much ducking. According to Pitcher Grey, the Fairlawns peppered the Colonials throughout the game and then sailed them away under a 20-4 deluge.

U. P. A. Members Hold Clambake

About 80 U. P. A. members and employes held their annual clambake on the grounds of the Golden Rule Inn Sunday.

Good weather favored the U. P. A. as it has during all of the association's activities this year, which included the food show in April and the N. Y. S. Food Merchants Convention the first week in August.

Sports included a soft ball game between two teams chosen from those attending, horse-shoe pitching and swimming. A hill-billy orchestra supplied the music. Dancing continued at the inn until nearly midnight.

Some of the members who aren't as young as they used to be, and who played on the ball-teams, are today using liniment to limber up.

Community Night Incinerator Now And Exhibition Blamed for Odors; Next Two Nights to Dynamite Dump

Kingston's playground season will be brought to a close with the combined Community Night and exhibition on Wednesday evening, 7:30 o'clock in Hasbrouck Park in which all of the seven playgrounds will unite, and the exhibition and entertainment to be held in the municipal auditorium on Thursday afternoon and evening.

Arrangements have been made to seat 3,000 people at the big Community Night program in Hasbrouck Park, and an interesting program will be given by talented performers as well as movies shown by Henry Millonik, Jr., and community singing led by Alberman Paul Zucca.

There will be an elaborate exhibit of work done by city playgrounds at the exhibition and entertainment to be given Thursday afternoon and evening in the auditorium on Broadway. Among the performers who will appear on the stage are Freddie Miller, 7 year old acrobat; Mary and Buddy Oulton, dance team; the Black Hawk Jesters, 17 boys in a singing number; the Harmonica Band from Hasbrouck Park, Alice Ward, tap dancer, and the play "The King Steps Out" will be given by children from Forsyth Park. This play proved so popular when presented at a Community Night program in the playground park that it is being given Thursday by popular request.

Now it's the Poughkeepsie incinerator that is the target of the citizens who have been suffering from fumes and stench caused by smoke over certain sections of the city during the last month.

Simon R. Kaplan, ash and garbage contractor, who has been endeavoring to quell the fire in the city-leased Pennock dump by the use of a 1600-foot pipeline and quantities of water, has finally decided to dynamite the dump as suggested by the suffering citizens who claim that the source of the disagreeable odors, Kaplan announced the fire in the dump was out, last week, but admitted that some more smoke arose from the dump Saturday morning. However, he challenged the fact that this smoke carried fumes into the city, basing his statement on the direction of the wind at the time the residents claimed the presence of the fumes.

Now it seems as though Mr. Kaplan may have been correct as two Bridge City residents came to his support with statements to the effect that they believe it's the city incinerator that is causing the stench. One man in particular claimed to have seen the smoke rising from the incinerator settle on the area where the fumes are reported, and he boosted Kaplan's stock when he said, "While I am no friend of Kaplan's, I do say that he's been getting the blame for a lot of things for which he is not responsible."

Alderman Adams came to bat for the city incinerator with the argument that, "I don't believe there are any odors from the incinerator dump or plant regardless of what these people say. I think they will find the odors of burning rubber come from a battery rebuilding plant nearby."

It is quite evident that citizens of the Bridge City and especially those living in the affected sections, are determined to track the cause of annoyance to its source and whether it's the city incinerator, the Pennock dump, or odors from a factory, the Common Council will have to take some steps to eliminate the unpleasant odors.

ZENGARAS WILL BOX WALLACE NEXT WEEK

George Zengaras, the Greek lightweight champion, has been matched to meet Frankie Wallace, the Cleveland boxer, for ten rounds in the main event at Madison Square Garden, on Thursday night. Zengaras is taking the place of Leonard Del Gemo, who was originally scheduled to meet the Ohio scrapper.

Zengaras is believed to be the strongest man for his weight and inches in the boxing game. A vicious hitter at close quarters he is considered a rough customer for any opponent in his division.

TRIP TO THE PROMISED LAND

Freeman Photo

A similar scene as that pictured above which occurred on the first visit of the Divinities to the Greenhill Promised Land, was enacted yesterday as 2,000 more of the Little Father's followers arrived on the same steamer, City of Keansburg, for a two-day outing at the Ulster heaven. The dock front was jammed with the "angels" and curious onlookers who milled about in an endeavor to catch a glimpse of the much publicized cult leader. The Father himself, stepped off the steamer with a jaunty air and made his way to his waiting automobile amid the cheers of his followers.
